Human Vermin

A chicken thief is a first cousin of the house.

Both are parasites of the lowest form. They should be exterminated when ever the opportunity presents itself.

The house even has habits that are honorable compared with the parasites of the chicken thief. The house gives farmers and housewives a chance; his work is tedious, but can often be detected in time to save the flock from destruction. But his relative who sinks into the poultry house in the dead of the night, attaches himself to the chickens and carries them away, is the greatest menace with which owners of flocks have to contend.

There is no chapter in the poultry raiser's guide devoted to combating human vermin among the flocks. Poultry authorities are almost powerless to advise farmers in methods to stamp out this type of parasite. Some owners of poultry, luckily, have evolved theories of their own. It is too bad that more of them do not have opportunity to test these theories. A lead mixture is the basis of the treatment.

Chicken stealing is one of the most despicable crimes on the calendar. Like many other kinds of theft, it robs men and women of the results of honest toil and pains-taking care. When human vermin hits a flock it is gone. The hard work, months of worry and attention are for naught.

The wholesale raid at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson north of Alexander, Monday night of this week, is an example of how the human parasite operates. Someone raised the chickens, then he stole the rest. It is a problem that should receive full attention from all law enforcement officers.

Raisers of poultry can meet and overcome such obstacles as cold, rains, drought and disease that endanger their flocks. But they have never been able to cope successfully with human vermin.

The Rees Plowing Match

Arrangements for the Annual Rees Plowing Match to be held on August 8 and 9 are being pushed rapidly to completion. Each year since the first meet was held, the affair has been increasing in proportions by leaps and bounds and the match promises to be the most attractive of all.

Thousands of farmers look forward each year to the affair and thousands drive for miles to be present at the activities. Due to the increasing interest and enthusiasm, the meet this year has been expanded into a two-day event, with the addition of livestock exhibits and grading and judging work.

The interest in and attendance at the plowing match is evidence of the progressive attitude held by agriculturists at the present time and shows that they are alert and anxious to attain production of better crops and the breeding of better livestock. The farmers of Morgan county who organized the meet and who have each year added something of importance to it are leaders who are making it possible for agriculture to advance to a higher level.

Almost every farmer is aware that such a gathering as the Rees Plowing Match provides new points and knowledge which he may put into use to a better advantage and that new methods may tend to lower the cost of production and at the same time maintain the highest efficiency.

A Novel Scheme, But—

The village of Red Bud, Randolph county, Ill., has a pretty name. It also is reported to have adopted a novel scheme for enforcing traffic regulations.

At the intersection of state highways, marked with stop signs frequently ignored by motorists, sits the town marshal in the shade of a building.

When a motorist fails to heed the stop sign the marshal toots his whistle and the offender is ordered to park at the curb. He is told that 15 minutes rest is sentenced upon him, and this may be extended to half an hour if he is obstinate and raises a howl.

When the time is up, according to the story of the procedure, he is cautioned to save time next time by the required pause and permitted to go on.

We are not sticking up for violators of traffic laws, but what kind of an officer is this marshal? First, he does his duty as an officer by halting the motorist; then he steps into the role of judge, by passing "sentences" on the offender, and later plays the part of a one-man parole board by releasing the culprit.

It would seem that the marshal is overstepping his authority in detail.

Diplomats Snicker Over New "Free Speech" Doctrine... Hull Takes Easiest Way Out... Washington Is Still Skeptical of Any Real Revolution in "New Germany."

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington, July 18.—The dignified diplomatic corps is still titillated. It's that immortal line of Secretary Hull's in dismissal of German squawks against General Johnson's comment on Hitler's massacre—it was to be regretted that the position in the government occupied by the speaker made it possible for remarks uttered by him as an individual to be misconstrued as official.

That's the best gag in diplomatic history—a diplomat. The oftener you read it, the better it gets.

Purely Personal

Hull's assurance to the German charge d'affaires that Johnson spoke only as an individual busted all precedents of usage wide open. In effect, it means if Roosevelt himself were to "stank out onto Pennsylvania avenue and give France the devil for not paying her debts, his words could be officially excused as his own personal opinion.

It's a great victory for free speech. And a staggering blow to certain old State Department fusties who think an apology and a reprimand for Johnson were in order.

But the inside story is that Hull felt he had too many important things on his mind to let him go fooling around with a nest of hornets somebody tossed him. If he lost any dignity in donning a mosquito net instead of tearing the thing open, that doesn't worry the courtly mountaineer from Tennessee a bit.

The State Department suspects nine out of ten Americans feel about Hitler just as Johnson does. Any attempt to rebuke Johnson would have brought out a terrific roar. Hull knows it's just such silly little international relations that lead to disruption of relations. Nationalist feeling in Germany is so hot and German leaders are so anxious to capitalize it that Hull felt the situation was distinctly explosive.

Easiest Way Out

Then there was Johnson to consider. The general is usually at the boiling point and his nerves lately have been a matter of large concern here. He might have cast oil upon the waters—along with a lighted match! Anyway, he has an unbroken record of never admitting a mistake.

Nobody felt very badly about the incident. Privately, nearly everyone in the department thinks the "New Germany" is just so much sauerbraten.

Another nation and it might have been different. When Johnson in a recent speech referred to "semi-barbaric atrocities of half civilized Russia," the Soviet embassy took the matter up with Moscow. But Moscow decided to let it ride.

Germany—What Now?

Confidential reports from our representatives at Berlin include few predictions beyond these: L. H. will take a more "moderate" course and swing to the conservative side.

The big flareup came with the "purge" which was directed at attacking national solidarity and eliminating the most dangerous trouble-makers. No general revolution is to be anticipated.

Germany will gradually move toward a rapprochement with the rest of the world, upon which she is dependent for economic improvement.

Informed officials here insist that Hitler has represented his country's emotional reactions, embodying the popular aspirations for emotional and physical release.

Can Hitler Build?

They think there's little chance of a genuine Communist victory in Germany—now or ever. Germany, they believe, are fundamentally conservative.

The question which most interests Washington is whether Hitler, who has proved himself a great popular leader while making "campaign promises," can now blossom out as a guiding, responsible statesman.

When you express doubt whether the man can do both tricks, you're reminded that no one ever expected as much of either Mussolini or Lenin. (Copyright, 1934, NEA Service, Inc.)

New Procedure For Employment Offices Explained to Staff

At a conference held Tuesday afternoon and evening in the local office of the National Reemployment Service, Dean W. Peterson and W. B. Dominick, field supervisors of the NRS, introduced to the personnel of the eight counties comprising the sixth district a complete new statistical procedure.

The new system involves a more complete system of reporting and tabulation of employment statistics and a more thorough recording of applicants' qualifications and other matters pertaining to the unemployment situation. This new procedure was designed after a careful study had been made of the highly developed systems used in England, Canada and other foreign countries, and in a large number of private employment agencies operated by individuals and industrial concerns in the United States. The result is believed to be the basis upon which a service of inestimable value to the public can be developed.

Particular attention is given to the recording of facts that indicate the movement of labor and the increase or decrease in employment in certain industries, thus placing in the hands of the United States Department of Labor data and reasonably accurate reports of the employment or unemployment condition existing in the country as a whole or in any particular locality.

The Wagner-Peyser act passed in June, 1933 provided that a nationwide employment service, to be known as the United States Employment Service under the United States Department of Labor, be set up as rapidly as possible to deal with employment problems. One of the first steps in this authority was the establishing of the National Reemployment Service in states where no employment service was maintained and in counties or districts not reached by existing employment services.

The eventual consolidation of these services under one head is to be effected when the various state services have qualified in matters of supporting legislation, methods of operation and statistical procedure. The recent Civil Service examinations taken by the personnel of both the NRS and the State Employment Service was for the purpose of qualifying for the U.S.S.

Manager R. H. Easley of the local office attended a conference in Springfield on July 15 at which time the new statistical procedure was explained to the district managers and statisticians of the NRS and State Employment Service. This meeting was conducted jointly by J. W. Bergthold, state director of the National Reemployment Service in Illinois, and A. H. R. Atwood, director of the Illinois State Employment Service.

The meeting held yesterday in the local office was also attended by W. T. Harmon, who recently resigned as district manager of the sixth district, and Harvey K. Wayland, district manager of the fourth district with offices in Macomb.

South Main Paving Job Nears Finish

After being delayed by the storm, work crews are again busy on the resurfacing of South Main street and expect to complete the job in the next two or three days. Approximately 550 feet of brick was yet to be laid yesterday morning.

The mastic base is rapidly being prepared in this space, and the asphalt to fill up the cracks between bricks and give a smooth surface is being put in place about 30 yards behind the brick.

The old brick and trolley car tracks, grading the roadway, putting in a concrete base, then a mastic base for the brick, a layer of new brick, and a surface of asphalt.

The new pavement should be open for traffic sometime in the early part of next week.

4th of July Balloon
Travels 190 Miles

A small gas-filled balloon that was released at the Jacksonville state hospital grounds on the evening of July 4, has just been located after a 190 mile flight. The balloon with card attached was picked up in a corn field near Roanoke, Ind., by Junior Lee, a 9 year old boy.

The young finder of the balloon wrote the hospital management a letter with the details of his discovery, and also returned the balloon.

Hayden Walker, business manager at the hospital, said this is the first of 15 balloons that were sent up on the Fourth, to be heard from. The one found in Indiana bore the greetings of the soldiers' building at the hospital.

Roanoke, Ind., is 190 miles almost direct east of this city, located about 10 miles from U. S. Route 136. When the balloons were released here all took a course directly north. Shifting wind currents no doubt entered into the flight, sending some of the gas-filled bags across the Hoosier border.

The balloons were 18 inches in diameter and were filled at the local gas plant. They were released at short intervals during the celebration in the evening.

Each balloon represented a ward at the hospital, and the soldiers had one of their own—the balloon picked up by the boy in Indiana.

CHICKENS STOLEN
FROM FARM HOME
AT ALEXANDER

Two hundred chickens of frying size were stolen Tuesday night from the farm premises of Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson, 2 1/2 miles north of Alexander. It was one of the largest hauls that has been made by chicken thieves in this county for several years.

Cutting a path through a 3 foot wire fence, the thieves worked without arousing any members of the Johnson family. The chickens were carried nearly 200 yards to the road. Sheriff Blackburn was notified Wednesday morning and his office is carrying on an investigation. Truck tracks were found near the Johnson home, where the thieves turned their vehicle around.

Mrs. Johnson had spent much time in caring for the flock which was soon to be marketed. The fliers averaged about 2 pounds.

P.T.A. Bulletin Has Ideas on Education

What do President Roosevelt, Mrs. Roosevelt, the president's cabinet, his advisers think about education? Following are excerpts from speeches or statements on education by prominent members of the present administration of the United States government, as noted by the Parent-Teacher Bulletin. The Parent-Teacher Association is vitally interested in the new laws being advocated along educational lines.

President Roosevelt—"Our present educational provisions do not meet the needs of all children up to 16. Newer, more vital, more significant types of preparation for satisfactory living must be evolved in our school system, so that if we prohibit the employment of children up to 16, we may at the same time provide fruitful experiences to fill these years and turn out more valuable citizens to the state and to industry when they do enter on their productive years."

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, herself a teacher and an active participant in educational and social welfare activities, says: "I have always felt that in this country where so much depends upon universal education, not only for happiness of the people but for the safety of our form of government, it was a pity some way had not been devised by which the interests of every one could be focused on public education."

Frances Perkins, secretary of labor—"In the field of education the federal government can render service and can stimulate activity. Upon the states rests the duty of assuring to each child a fully adequate education to the limit of his or her capacity. Upon the local community rests the obligation to hire such persons, build such schools, and adopt such procedures as will not only enable the future adult to commune with his fellows, but will enable him to discover those occupations which will yield him the joy and satisfaction of successful effort, and will assure him of the skill which will make him a well paid worker in other words, the city, the town, the county or local unit must set up, if it is fully conscious of its government possibilities, adequate systems of vocational guidance and vocational education. The obligation of providing fully for occupational adjustment of every individual is one which, especially in these days of economic readjustment, can not long be shirked."

James A. Farley, postmaster general—"Education and democracy are natural partners. Without the former, representative government can not stand. The pillars of democracy are secure only when resting upon the high qualities of the individual citizen."

Daniel C. Roper, secretary of commerce—"It is interesting to reflect that this profession we call 'education' must be re-adjusted to every important era. We have a right to expect that educators will prepare those under their charge for the duties and responsibilities peculiar to the times. The era following 1929, and in which we are now launched, will need that educational service which will enable the individual better to control his thinking and his actions and thereby to guide others in protecting against the excesses of greed and preferential treatment."

Several bills in regard to educational funds will come up at the next session of the Illinois legislature and all members of the organization are urged to study all angles of the school situation in the state.

World Champion Giants Take Hard Hitting Battle From Chicago Cubs by 8-6 Score

By Edward J. Neil
Associated Press Sports Writer

New York, July 18.—(P)—The World Champion Giants ganged on their closest rivals, the Chicago Cubs, in one big inning today and closed out a "crucial" five game series with an 8 to 6 victory that pushed the Cubs three games back in second place.

The Giants teed off on the Mississippi cat, Guy Bush, and his successor, Charlie Root, for six runs in the third inning, providing just enough salient for ancient Delio Luge to stagger through to victory after Freddy Fitzsimmons fired in the midst of a four run Cub rally in the seventh.

The Cubs, fighting for the odd game that would have cut the Giants lead to a single game, were full of trouble and danger all the way. Woody English hit a home run into the right field stands to start the Cub scoring in the fourth with only the fourth hit off Fitzsimmons.

In the seventh, successive singles by Charlie Grimm, Stan Hack and Bill Herman, a walk to English and Chuck Klein's single brought Luge in with three runs across. Floyd Herman belted over the fourth with a single to center but the ancient Cuban stemmed the uprising there.

Delfo was in grave danger in the eighth, when the Cubs on singles by Hack, Bill Herman and English had three men on bases with two out, but Stanback, who replaced Klein in the seventh, ended the inning with a mammoth 455 foot fly to left field.

Floyd Herman hit the fourth homer of the day to start the ninth for the Cubs, but again Luge got out without further damage to save the Giants' 30th victory in 40 games at home this season.

The Giants, with Bill Terry, Joe Moore and Mel Ott leading the attack, mopped up Bush, who has an aching ear, and Root in the third, did nothing to Roy Joiner, who followed them, but picked up a highly important run off Bud Tinning in the eighth.

BABE RUTH IS PAINFULLY HURT

Cleveland, July 18.—(P)—Babe Ruth will be lost to the New York Yankees for at least two weeks, and possibly longer, in the current hot American League pennant fight.

The home run king was struck on the left leg and sent sprawling by a sizzling drive off the bat of his teammate and home run rival, Lou Gehrig, in the third inning of today's game with the Cleveland Indians. Babe was running the bases after knocking out a long single.

Dr. M. H. Castle, club physician of the Indians to whose office Ruth was taken, said Ruth should remain off his feet at least a week, and should spend another week resting.

Dr. Castle said Ruth's injury was a severe bruise on the lower shin bone, contusion and ruptured blood vessels nearby. Wet X-ray plates showed no fracture.

Manager Joe McCarthy and Dr. Castle went into conference to determine how soon the Babe could leave Cleveland.

When the physician tried to get the Babe to go to a hospital, he refused flatly, and inquired:

"How long am I going to be out, Doc? I want to be with my ball club."

Ruth proposed to continue with the team tonight, but instead was carried to his hotel after Mrs. Ruth, a spectator at the game, had added her pleading to the doctor's advice.

Boston Red Sox Score Nine Runs in First Inning and Smother White Sox 16 to 3

Chicago, July 18.—(P)—Scoring nine runs in the first inning, seven of them on homers by Roy Johnson and Bill Cissell, the former's with two on and the latter's with the bases loaded, the Boston Red Sox ran over the White Sox, 16 to 3, today to take the series, three games to one.

Rick Ferrell and Dusty Cooke also hit homers for the Red Sox. There were two on when Cooke hit his long blow.

Cissell, a former member of the White Sox hit a double as well as his four run homer in the first, later adding a second double to his big day. In all, he batted in seven runs and scored twice.

INDIANS DEFEAT YANKEES 15-14

Cleveland, July 18.—(P)—The New York Yankees suffered a double setback today. They lost the fourth and final game of their series with the Cleveland Indians, bowing 15 to 14 in a slugfest, and the services of Babe Ruth, who was struck in the leg with a batted ball and will be out of the game for two weeks.

Going into the final inning, trailing 12 to 9, the Yanks rallied to score five runs. They contrived them from singles by Dixie Walker and Red Rolfe, pinch hitters, and Earl Combs and Ben Chapman, an outfield fly by Hoag, an error by Hale and a late throw by Lee.

Kamm opened Cleveland's half of the ninth with a double to center. At this point manager Joe McCarthy yanked Jimmy Deshong and replaced him with Vernon (Lefty) Gomez, who was the fifth Yankee pitcher. Pytlak tripled to center, scoring Kamm and Holland doubled off the right field screen, scoring Pytlak and tying the score. Rice bunted and Holland was out at third. Rice stole second and Rolfe made a great stop of Knickerbocker's grounder, throwing him out at first with Rice advancing to third. Earl Averill, who previously had propelled a home run, singled off the right field screen, scoring Rice with the winning run.

Averill's timely blow cost Gomez his third defeat of the year. Cleveland used six pitchers. Belve Bean, the last to enter the fray, being the winner.

Ruth was decommissioned in the third inning when he was struck by a smashing drive off the bat of Lou Gehrig as the former home run king was running from first to second. The force of the blow knocked Ruth down and he had to be assisted off the field.

Dr. M. H. Castle, the Indians' team physician, said Ruth suffered a severe contusion of the left shinbone and advised that the big fellow remain off his feet for at least a week. Dr. Castle said it would be advisable for Ruth to stay out of the game for two weeks.

$229,000 Paid Here in Life Insurance Claims During Year

The sum of $229,000 in life insurance premiums was paid on the deaths of Jacksonville residents during 1933, according to figures compiled by the National Underwriter, weekly insurance paper. The paper has just issued an edition showing the amounts of insurance payments in all cities of the United States.

The estates of Dr. William O. Wait and William S. Ehnie received between $8,000 and $12,000 each from insurance policies, the Underwriter states. These were the largest single policies paid here during the last year. The majority of claims paid in this community were for $1,000 and $2,000.

Policyholders and beneficiaries in Illinois were paid $235,500,000 by life insurance companies in 1933. This was a decrease of $20,500,000 or 8 per cent less than the 1932 total of $256,000,000. Illinois ranked third in life payments among all states, while it is third in size of population, the per capita payment being $30.90.

Chicago ranked second among all cities in the country in life insurance payments in 1933 with $97,350,000 compared to $85,000,000 in 1932 or a 11 per cent increase. HARVEST WORKERS CAN STILL BE FED WELL BY PLANNING

Urbana, Ill., July 18.—Even though agriculture may not be as prosperous as in other years, the hands who harvest and thresh the nearly two million acres of small grains grown in Illinois may be well and cheaply fed if care and judgment are used in planning the meals, it is pointed out by Sleeter Bull, associate chief in meats at the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Naturally, the threshing dinners will be based upon meat, not only because of its high nutritive value as a source of energy to do work and of protein for repair and growth of muscles, but also because of its palatability. If proper judgment is used in the selection of meat, considerable economy can be attained in preparing the threshing meals, Bull says.

Chuck ribs and the shoulder arm of beef make inexpensive but excellent roasts and pot roasts, especially when cut from young, fairly well fattened cattle, explains Bull. Brisket or plate is even cheaper but should be stewed, that is, simmered not boiled. These cuts are usually quite fat and may be used to advantage when noodles or dumplings are to be served. Ground beef or meat loaf is another economical dish.

Present low prices of hogs furnish pork at a reasonable figure. The picnic cut from the lower part of the shoulder, either fresh or cured, is an economical cut of meat. This piece when cured is often sold as a substitute for ham under such names as "California ham" or "Caja." The Boston, from the upper part of the shoulder, either cured or fresh, sells at a comparatively low price and contains but little waste. Many people prefer cured Boston to cured ham, especially when baked and sliced cold. Bacon squares, also known as jowl bacon, and bacon ends sometimes referred to as breakfast bacon, are much cheaper than breakfast bacon and just as good for cooking with beans, greens and other vegetables. Salt pork likewise may be used for this purpose. Of course sausage, bologna, and frankfurters are economical and are relished by most men.

With present poultry prices, the farm flock may furnish a considerable part of the meat supply at low expense. Few, if any, harvest hands will object to chicken with gravy, noodles, dumplings or hot biscuits.

YOUR state and your car are hooked up in more ways than your license plate shows. . . .

Because—under present conditions, your gas tax money is the principal source of funds (except for Federal appropriations) for improving county roads, and arterial streets in the towns, as well as the state roads.

Illinois has paved most of the main roads with concrete—and that saves you more money, in tires and gas, than the roads cost! Thus the concrete roads return to you a substantial profit, every year.

As your local officials extend this construction to the principal streets and secondary roads, you should insist on concrete paving for these improvements also. Otherwise, your savings will be lost in higher driving costs when you leave the main roads.

Sludge, the oil eater, IS DOOMED

THE MINUTE YOU CHANGE TO ISO-VIS "D"

WHEN YOU STOP SLUDGE FORMATION YOU END ONE BIG CAUSE OF HIGH OIL CONSUMPTION. THIS NEW MOTOR OIL GETS RID OF SLUDGE

If you've drained your crankcase yourself—or watched the process—you've noted the tar-like disagreeable mass which comes out if you have been using ordinary motor oils.

That's Sludge—formed by broken-down motor oil. It means that the oil didn't do its full job. Often such inefficient protection brings on costly engine repairs.

One thing is certain. Sludge formation costs you money. For it causes piston rings to stick and your engine starts pumping oil. That is senseless, needless waste of money.

The remedy is simple. Iso-Vis "D", Standard's anti-sludge motor oil, won't sludge under the hardest driving you'll do this summer. It will give your engine free, easy action and sure protection. Piston rings stay lively. This fine, efficient new motor oil may even help remove sludge formed by previous oils.

Change to Iso-Vis "D" and be money ahead all summer.

SEE WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU DON'T STOP SLUDGE!

When Sludge collects on piston rings, as shown above, it makes them stick and the motor begins wasteful pumping of oil. ISO-VIS "D" doesn't sludge, keeps rings free and lively, thereby saving real money for the user.

Note above chart how oil costs climb quickly as more and more sludge forms in an engine. Sludge is plainly one of the greatest causes of high oil consumption. ISO-VIS "D" keeps users' oilcost down, because it keeps Sludge out.

taxes required to be paid to the government through the Bureau of Internal Revenue, so that the people are interested in how many liquor dealers and dealers in beer and other special products there are registered in the Eighth District of Illinois.

V. V. Dallman, collector of Internal Revenue for this district, has just issued a statement setting forth these facts which will prove of interest to the average citizen.

During the period July 1, 1933 to June 30, 1934, inclusive, there were issued from the head office of the collector at Springfield a total of 4,742 special tax stamps to retail liquor dealers, and 156 to wholesale liquor dealers. From July 1, 1933 up to December 5, 1933, at which time the 18th Amendment was repealed, very few retail liquor dealers' special tax stamps were issued, and what few were issued covered sales only of light wines. Most of the total were issued after December 5, when liquor of all kinds could be legally sold in most all sections of the district.

There were a total of 3,344 special tax stamps issued to retail dealers in fermented liquors and 515 issued to wholesale dealers. Most of these special tax stamps were issued between July 1 and December 5, 1933, because after that date a special tax stamp as retail dealer would also cover business transactions in fermented liquors.

A special tax stamp to retail only beer costs $20 per year. A retail liquor dealer is required to sell less than 5 gallons in any one transaction, and a wholesale liquor dealer is required to sell 5 gallons or more at any one sale.

At the present time there are 14 breweries operating in the Eighth Illinois District. The annual rate of tax for breweries was $1,000 until Jan. 12, 1934, when the tax was reduced to $100 per annum.

A retail dealer in oleomargarine is required to pay tax of $6 per annum and must sell in quantities of less than 10 pounds to a customer. Wholesale dealers pay tax at the rate of $200 per annum and must sell in quantities of 10 pounds or more. The total number of registered retail dealers for the past year were 5,036 and wholesale dealers 46.

In addition to the foregoing special taxes, the records of the district office show that there were approximately 3,500 registrants as dealers in narcotic preparations.

Plan State-wide Organization of Owners of Homes

By LESTER M. HILL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Flora, Ill., July 18.—(P)—The nucleus of what is intended to be a state-wide organization designed to ultimately bring about tax exemptions for small home owners was established here last night with the forming of Unit Number One of the "Non-Partisan Home Owners' League of Illinois."

Home owners from various sections of Clay county and Wayne county attended the meeting here last night, the first of a series to be held throughout the state by the new tax reform organization which was granted its charter only a few weeks ago.

L. M. Wood, of Flora, and president of the Non-Partisan Home Owners' League, in outlining the purpose of the league, said organizers would be sent into all sections of the state.

Purpose of League
"The purpose of the league which is a no-profit organization and in which only the secretary receives a small salary, is to work for an amendment to the revenue section of the state constitution which will exempt the residence properties of Illinois home owners from regular taxation," Wood told the gathering of home owners.

The president of the league said it is the aim of the organization to secure tax exemptions on all homes where the owner actually resides in his own home up to $5,000 of the assessed value of the property. Total tax exemption on farm residences and one acre of ground is also sought by the league, he said.

Wood said organizers will be commissioned by officers of the organization to form local units in every city and county in Illinois and to solicit members among the home owners. The membership fee he said would be $1.00 to cover clerical expenses and expenses of the organizers.

Fight Sales Tax
The league also seeks the abolition of the present sales tax and is launching a movement to substitute it with a one percent "sales and service tax," which would effect professional men as well as merchants.

"The down state tax payers' Wood said, "now have no voice in the distribution of the present sales tax and Chicago is getting the lion's share. Under our plan the tax payers will have a voice as to where the money shall go."

May Cease Ocean Mail Subsidies
Washington, July 18.—(P)—The system of subsidies to the American merchant marine is expected to undergo far-reaching changes within six months.

Steamship companies which carry the mail probably will be paid on a weight basis, a change which officials hope will save the post office department $10,000,000 a year.

As to new means of helping build up the merchant marine, observers pointed to a recent report of Secretary of Commerce Roper. After recommending that the present idea of mail subsidies be scrapped, he suggested specific subsidies to lines in direct competition with foreign interests. These subsidies would be for building and operating vessels.

Ask for Report
The White House announced last night that President Roosevelt has ordered Postmaster General Farley to report within six months whether existing ocean and foreign air mail contracts should be modified or scrapped.

The holders of these contracts will be given public hearings. This is a departure from the procedure followed in canceling domestic air mail contracts. Critics complained at the time that no hearings were granted.

Officials estimated that if ocean mail had been carried on poundage basis last year the cost to the government would have been $3,000,000. They said the actual cost under the system of virtual subsidies was $26,000,000.

One company, post office figures showed, received $363,000 for carrying mail which would have cost only $25.52 on a poundage basis.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Poole and Homer Ham of Chambersburg, were business callers in Jacksonville Wednesday.

HOLD MEETING
The members of the Chapin Just-A-Mere 4-H club met recently at the Community High school building.

The following program was heard: Call to order—President.
Roll call—State 4-H Club Slogan.
Business.
Music.

There were eight members and two visitors, Katherine Vanner of Jacksonville and Florence Joy of Decatur, Ill.

VISIT HERE
Rev. Wm. Simmons and wife and two children of Lamar, Colorado, and Mrs. Will Russell of Harrisonville, Mo., visited relatives here Wednesday while enroute to Chicago. The guests of H. F. Triebert and family, 203 South Fayette street.

GRAIN PRICES
MUCH HIGHER

By John P. Boughan

Associated Press Market Editor

Chicago, July 18.—(P)—Higher quotations on all grains formed the rule today with corn and rye reaching new top records for the season, but with buyers increasingly cautious.

The principal fresh upward impetus for values came from Canadian reports of severe damage to wheat crops of the prairie provinces largely as a result of widening drought and excessive heat. Unofficial estimates today placed the 1934 probable production of wheat in these provinces as low as 228,000,000 bushels, against an expectation of 350,000,000 bushels a few weeks ago.

Wheat closed firm, 1-1/2 above yesterday's finish, corn also 1-1/2 up, oats unchanged to 1 higher, and provisions at 5 to 10 cents decline.

From the outset, the wheat market here was bullishly influenced by Canadian official announcement that reports of crop conditions in the prairie provinces were pessimistic almost without exception. Advances at hand of temperatures in the provinces above 100 degrees, and said there was growing need for rain both sides of the international border. Special notice was taken of authoritative Canadian trade reports that contrary to expectations wheat crops never recovered from hardships encountered during

May, and that between 3,000,000 and 6-

000,000 acres in southern territory, mainly Saskatchewan, would not even produce seed.

Corn, oats and other grains reflected knowledge of unabated heat and drought southwest and west, with no relief in sight for the corn crop of that region. On the other hand, corn prospects have improved in the central states, and the indicated production in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio is now unofficially estimated at 32,000,000 bushels more than the government's latest forecast. Including five southwestern states, however, the country's probable yield of corn is 170,000,000 bushels less than on July 1.

Primary domestic receipts of wheat today were not so liberal as of late.

Arrivals of winter wheat at eleven markets totaling but 1,051 cars. Milling demand, though, was relatively slow, buyers being disposed to back away from offerings to arrive.

Provisions sagged late, responsive to action of hog values.

CROP PROSPECT IN CO. ILLINOIS FAIR

Centralia, Ill., July 18.—(P)—Despite serious drought damage to crops in northern and central Illinois, the picture is not so dark for "Little Egypt."

John C. Quade, engineer for the Federal Land Bank, reported the outlook of the southern Illinois farmer is much brighter than that of the northern Illinois producer.

North Main Street Improvement First On Paving Program

Numbering the North Main street paving project as the first to be done, cutting off one block of the College avenue project and labelling it as the second, and placing the square last in the list of projects, members of the city council yesterday afternoon battled their way through a mass of figures, did considerable speculating, and then resorted to a series of rescinding motions as they set the schedule for using this city's share of the gasoline taxes.

North Main will be repaved with reinforced concrete from Walnut street to the city limits, with a 36 foot wide slab, according to the first of the resolutions to go through after the former resolutions by the council had been wiped off the books. The second project was shortened one block when representatives of the State Highway department assured the council that the department would approve only projects which had to do with state routes through the city, the council voting to repave West College avenue from South Main street to Sandy street, reflecting the proposal to remove and repave East College from South Main to Mulva street.

The square will be the third project to be started, and will be begun with the funds remaining to the city's credit, or will be left to accumulate until enough funds are available to make a "real paving job."

The city's much disputed use of the state gasoline taxes thus was given a send-off, two members of the State Highway department, Charles M. Slaymaker and Robert McGraw, stating the state's requirements. Alderman Roy Conlee and Robert Weaver were not present at the meeting, which was presided over by Mayor W. A. Wainwright.

Re-iterating the report made to the council by the mayor, Mr. Slaymaker told of a trip to Jacksonville at which time he discussed proposed improvements with the mayor and members of the county highway committee. Mr. Slaymaker said that he expressed the belief at that time that the first project the city should attempt was repaving the square, their second task should be repaving North Main street, and that the third project should be the College avenue job.

Mr. Slaymaker underwent a cross fire of questions as the members of the council sought to learn what type of paving he considered best for the various projects, the approximate costs of the projects and the amount of money that would be available for the city to use.

Discuss Square

Taking up consideration of the square first, the council considered various ways a project might be handled after they had been assured that under the brick of the present square there was a concrete base. It was estimated that the cost of repaving the entire square, with brick similar to the South Main street improvement, would cost more than the city expects to receive from gasoline taxes this year, and that it would be unwise to anticipate against next year's collections.

Mr. Slaymaker stated that the South Main street paving was contracted at $11.3 a square yard for the base, and $1.35 a square yard for the brick surface, asphalt cushion, and asphalt filling between the bricks. It was estimated that a new brick paving job on top of the present concrete base would cost the city about $17,000, and that repairs, removal of street car tracks and tearing up the present paving would run the cost to nearly $25,000.

Several plans were suggested, such as resurfacing, paving one half at a time, and using concrete with an asphalt top on top of the present concrete base. Any of these projects, with the possible exception of resurfacing, would require the approval of the state highway department, according to Mr. Slaymaker. They were all dropped however, because of the cost of the completed projects probably would be more than the city would receive during the year from the gasoline tax.

Reaching a conclusion on what it wanted to do, the council rescinded all resolutions passed, including the rescinding action on the square project. The paving of North Main street was introduced as the first project on a motion of Alderman Ralph Cowgill. The original resolution called for only a 30 foot paving, which the new resolution changed to a 36 foot wide slab.

Assured that the state department would not approve a project for an arterial street, Alderman Cowgill introduced a motion which provided for the repaving of West College avenue one block off South Main. The council simply reconsidered its action, of July 2, at which time it was voted to rescind the resolution providing for the resurfacing of the square, and voted "no" on the question of rescinding the resolution at yesterday's meeting, thus placing the square project back where it was on April 19, when the first resolution providing for resurfacing over the entire surface of the brick was passed.

Talk Traffic. Making a report on conditions as he found them here, and completely upholding a report made by the mayor to the council, Mr. Slaymaker stated that in his conference with the mayor he had quite definitely said what the department would like to have done in Jacksonville. Continuing, the district engineer declared that parking conditions here were bad, unnecessary and unsatisfactory, and that the space used for parking cars should be used for speeding up traffic.

Urging that the council take some action, for fear that the state legislature might appropriate gasoline taxes to some other cause, Mr. Slaymaker pointed out that since the first of July the three agencies, city, county and state, which previously divided the three cent tax evenly between them, had been forced to give up one third of their revenue to the schools. For the same reason, he said, it is not wise to anticipate on gasoline taxes beyond the next meeting, folks.

City Must Pay Most of S. Clay Paving, Claim

Engineer Says State

Will Not Bear Detour Cost

The revelation that the city highway department fund would be called upon to pay most of the cost of establishing the detour used during the paving operations on South Main street, and a further revelation that the cost of the project to date was $10,193, was made to members of the finance and highway committees of the city council yesterday.

A large part of the $10,193 spent on establishing the detour was used to resurface South Clay avenue, it was said. Out of this sum the city hopes to get only $1,885.90 from the state highway department, it learned at a conference between Charles M. Slaymaker, district engineer and members of the finance and highway committees. Mr. Slaymaker presented a copy of the bills the state highway department probably will pay in connection with the establishing of the detour, and declared that there was no certainty that the department would approve the $1,885 total.

Alderman Harlan Williamson, chairman of the present finance committee, declared that the means of paving for the project had been misunderstood by the council. He said that Franklin Matthews, a member of the finance and highway committees, had explained that the state department would allow the city to anticipate against its contract during the coming year, which began July 1.

Mr. Slaymaker told the group at the conference that such an arrangement would have been foolish on the part of the state, because the detour would not be a detour much longer after the beginning of the new contract. He also pointed out that the state department will not construct detours at a cost of $10,000 except under unusual conditions. He added that the money contracted by this city for maintaining state bond issue and state aid routes through the city could not be applied to detours in large amounts. Mr. Slaymaker explained that the city is awarded a contract on the basis of the number of miles of each highway routed over the city streets, and that charges for repairs to these streets are charged against the amount allowed the city for that particular highway.

Ting of a trip he and his chief made to St. Louis to investigate the detour, Mr. Slaymaker stated that at that time he was told that the detour was costing too much money. The state, Mr. Slaymaker said, was ready to bear the cost of the detour from South Main to Clay at the city limits, and from the end of the pavement on South Clay to Michigan avenue.

Former Alderman Matthews, highway and finance chairman, when he presented the project to the council, explained that the city had something less than $5000 to its credit on its highway maintenance contract, and that he had been assured by a Mr. Todd that the city could anticipate upon its next year's contract in order to be assured of enough money to pay for the improvement. It was estimated at that time that the project would cost between $5,500 and possibly as high as $7,500.

The street department fund was first hit when $10,000 was taken off the appropriation with a view to using gasoline taxes in its place. Gasoline taxes however were put in the state's hands, and the state department has designated only highways through cities and extensions of highways as proper places to spend gasoline tax money. The $10,000 reduction left the department, which is also Road District 14, with only $15,000 for operating expenses this year, in contrast to the usual $25,000.

Members who attended the district meeting of the auxiliary held at Old Salem State Park were Mrs. Catherine Wright, Mrs. Dovie Walker, Mrs. Mary Beth Rogers, Mrs. Ina Colton, Mrs. Ruth Oxley, Mrs. Gary Branstetter, Mrs. Ruth Bland, Mrs. Audra Livengood, Mrs. Marie Bridges, Mrs. Dorothy Woods, Mrs. Trilby Skinner and Mrs. Harriette Craver.

CONCORD HOGS TOP LIVESTOCK MART

Hogs from Dietrich and Dietrich of Concord, well-known breeders and feeders of livestock brought $400 each, the top price paid at the National Stock Yards, Tuesday, according to reports. Their shipment numbered 37 head and averaged 217 pounds. The price was strong for their weight.

TO OHIO. Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bussey and small son, who have been spending part of their summer vacation here, will leave this evening for Sandusky, Ohio, where they plan to spend the remainder of the summer. Mr. Bussey will return to his work as teacher and assistant coach at Chicago Heights high school shortly after the first of September.

A Monster Born of the Strike

Like some strange monster out of a book of mythology, this San Francisco mounted policeman came charging up at a gallop to disperse a gathering on the street. Both horse and rider are protected from gas by specially designed masks.

GREENE COUNTY REVIEW BOARD HOLDS SESSION

Held Tennis Tournament; Other News From Carrollton Vicinity

Carrollton, July 18.—A special session of the Greene County board of review was held Saturday, in the Supervisors room in the court house at which time payment on claims were recommended by the finance committee. The claims were those of the members of the board for salaries for the present session. The project for compensation insurance for the relief workers in the county was brought before the board and placed in the hands of the miscellaneous committee with power to act on it. The Worrell Mfg. Co., is suing the county unjustly as the board viewed it, and after a discussion the state attorney was instructed not to confess judgment on this account. The matter of revising the county liquor law to permit the sale of liquor on Sundays was discussed but no action was taken.

Darkness halted the Carrollton-Jerseyville tennis tournament with honors even. The two clubs playing four single and four double matches were tied with each club having won two singles and two doubles when darkness made further play impossible. Following are the results of the matches played: Singles—Dawson of Carrollton defeated Pirtle of Jerseyville 6-4, 5-7 and 6-1. Sunderland of Jerseyville won over Pearce, Carrollton, 11-9 (default). Vedder, Carrollton defeated Sengs, Jerseyville, 6-2 and 6-3. Richey of Jerseyville won

Mrs. Elmer Niestradt was a caller at the home of Mrs. Jack Guelker Wednesday afternoon.

The Misses Berenice and Alta Jockisch of Bluff Springs were shoppers in town Tuesday afternoon.

John J. Hogan was in Jacksonville last week. Saturday afternoon while flying his airplane west of this city Arthur Helgeson a former engineer landed just before it collided with a Locket farm in Bluffdale Township, a few miles west of here. As Helgeson was riding around the motor of the plane suddenly died. He was some distance from a landing field and after sliding a mile he found that a landing was necessary before he could reach an open field. He attempted to land so that the wings of the plane only would hit the trees but that also was impossible so he gave the plane a turn that demolished the landing gear, but stopped the plane just before it collided with a large tree. He was fortunate enough to come out unhurt but the plane was wrecked. The landing gear was torn off, also the propeller and the radiator was smashed and the wings badly damaged.

Winchester Receives Fund From P.W.A. to Improve Water System

Winchester, July 18.—The City of Winchester received a check for the sum of $22,332.44 yesterday from the Public Works administration for the construction of a filtering, water softening and iron removal plant in the improvement of the city's water system. The final negotiations were completed yesterday by Mayor H. W. Lieb and City Attorney R. M. Riggs, in a meeting with the representatives of the PWA at the federal reserve bank in St. Louis. The city's water revenue bonds in the sum of $22,000.00 were turned over to the federal reserve bank in return for the funds to finance the project.

This transaction completes the negotiations for financing the improvement to the water system with the exception of the grant from the government to the city covering 30% of the cost of the improvement which is an outright gift to the city from the PWA. This grant will probably be made in the near future.

Mayor Lieb informed the city's engineers, Wood, Walraven and Tillie of Springfield, and the contractors for the project, Smirl & Gibson of Jacksonville, that the finances were now available for commencing construction work. The contractors and engineers are expected to meet with the city council this evening in an effort to insure the immediate commencement of construction work. It is estimated that the work can be done within three months. It is thought that work will begin as soon as it is possible for the contractors to move their machinery here.

City Has Right To Objections In Bus Line Sale

Seek Solution To Car Track Problem Here

The City of Jacksonville, through its attorney, O. N. Foreman, asked for and received the right to file a bill of objections to the sale of the transportation facilities by the Illinois Power and Light Corp., to an Ottawa firm at a hearing of the Illinois Commission. The objections must be filed before next Wednesday, the commission ruled yesterday.

The city attorney, in discussing the action, said yesterday that the city should know the terms of the sales contract, in view of the fact that the Illinois Power and Light Corporation has a number of unused street car tracks still in the city streets. The city has sought for some time to work out a solution to the street car track problem, and committees from the city council have called on the power company several times. As yet no plan has been agreed upon.

Investigation of the ability of the Ottawa concern to furnish bus service here is being completed, the city attorney stated. Early reports from the investigation have shown that the Ottawa concern is a going concern, although not exceptionally wealthy. It took over a utility bus service at Ottawa, and has made a paying business out of the transportation system installed there.

Preliminary plans for bus service in Jacksonville call for cheaper fares and changed routes, the attorney said. The plans at present are for buses that will reach into corners of the city which do not have service at present, and to increase the efficiency of the line through putting on more buses than are in operation at present.
